Production Description

FRP (fiberglass reinforced plastic) septic tank refers to the synthetic resin as a substrate, glass fiber reinforced materials made specifically for the treatment of domestic sewage equipment. FRP septic tank industrial enterprises living room and urban residential living quarters and other civil buildings of domestic sewage purification and treatment equipment. FRP septic tank temporary storage of feces, so that it is initially decomposed in the pool, in order to reduce the discharge of sewage in the solids content.

FRP Septic Tank Advantage:

1. Use high quality FRP composite material to make, with the advantage of anti-acid,alkali resistant ,pull to resistant,high strength etc.
2. good tightness ,no leakage,completely prevent the pollution of traditional the septic tank ground water leakage. At the same time, improve the damage to building from foundation wet soft sink, with the better environmental protection efficiency.
3. Using unique structure design and high efficient membrane packing , high removal efficiency,small occupy area ,area selection flexible, special suitable for old city building area reform sewage system to set up septic tank.
4. Light weight, convenient to transport. integral construction, no need assembly, install speedy.

Septic Tank Application:

1. Industrial Water Treatment with mufti-layer media
2. Water Softening
3. Centralized Filtration System for high rise residential and commercial buildings such as residence, high rise office building, hotels and resorts.
4. Aquaculture, fish farming filtration system
5. Many other water filtration and treatment applications.
6. Grease Trap or Interceptor
