is made of superior FRP(fiber Recinforced plastic). It is inner smooth surface enable air move fast while the outer surface provide high strength and resistance against climatic conditions

Function Of Cooling Tower FRP fan stack

The FRP fan stack of the cooling tower has four major functions: one is the maintenance structure of the fan; Second, the guarantee structure of air volume and air pressure; Third, ensure that hot and humid air is sent into the atmosphere to reduce backflow and improve the efficiency of the cooling tower workbench; The fourth function is to isolate the noise transmission path and reduce the noise.
