Production Description

FRP septic tank

Fibreglass septic tank refers to the equipment which is made of synthetic resin as matrix and glass fiber reinforced material and specially used to treat domestic sewage. Fiberglass septic tank is the composite material product promoted actively by the country, whose quality is light, high strength, good toughness, corrosion resistance, bright color, finish achieves mirror effect and so on.

Advantage:

1. Use high quality FRP composite material to make, with the advantage of anti-acid,alkali resistant ,pull to resistant,high strength etc.
2. good tightness ,no leakage,completely prevent the pollution of traditional the septic tank ground water leakage. At the same time, improve the damage to building from foundation wet soft sink, with the better environmental protection efficiency.
3. Using unique structure design and high efficient membrane packing , high removal efficiency,small occupy area ,area selection flexible, special suitable for old city building area reform sewage system to set up septic tank.
4. Light weight, convenient to transport. integral construction, no need assembly, install speedy.
